

Potential HorsePower Client

Maggie Larson

Age 41

Maggie is a stay-at-home mom to her daughter Kristin, who is 10 years old and has Downs Syndrome. Her and her husband Rick are always on the lookout for unique opportunities and activities for Kristin to participate in. Maggie has spent a lot of time researching therapies and activities that would be beneficial and tailored towards children with Down's Syndrome. She heard about HorsePower from a friend who's daughter volunteers there, and is interested in learning more. Kristin loves animals but has never had much interaction with horses before, and Maggie is a bit hesitant about how she may react.

Kristin is very social at school, and enjoys learning new things. Maggie often hears from her teachers that she gets distracted easily and could benefit from an extra curricular activity to zone in on a singular hobby. Since Maggie is a stay at home mom, she has additional time to spend with Kristin and really dedicate the added time and attention that she needs. She is willing to spend some money on activities that she knows will benefit her daughter.
